Do the following 9 steps. Document your results to each step in a single writeup and place your writeup and the XML file resulting from step 9 on your A5 Class Work Page.

1. Join Mendeley.

2. Put all your papers (at least 20) into your account on Mendeley.

3. Join the BCB group Dr H has created.

4. Add at least one paper you like to the BCB group papers (related to BCB).

5. Add a contact (choose someone from our class if you're shy ☺)

6. Install the Import to Mendeley tool to your browser

7. Import at least one PDF from the web into your library

8. Check out at least two groups, and read at least one paper you discover, and add at least one paper to your personal collection. Suggestions on groups

    ▪ Future of Science
    ▪ Open Data
    ▪ Reinventing the Scientific Paper
    ▪ Altmetrics
    ▪ Data reuse
    ▪ Data Sharing and Withholding
    ▪ Data Analysis
    ▪ Bioinformatics
    ▪ Amazon Mechanical Turk

    Find more by browse by disciplines….

9. Export all the files from your library into Endnote XML format (highlight them, then FILE>Export). Put this file on the web, and add link to it on your wiki page.