INLS 513-001  RESOURCE SELECTION & EVALUATION (3 credit hours)
Spring Semester 2018, Thursdays 2:00-4:45, Room 208 Manning Hall
Instructor: Mary Grace Flaherty
Office Phone: 962-5982; Email: mgflaher@email.unc.edu
Office hours: by appointment, Room 204 Manning Hall

Course Description:

This course covers the identification, provision, and evaluation of resources to meet primary needs of clientele in different institutional environments.

We will explore the:

- Defining characteristics of collections
- Challenges of defining the scope of collections
- Development of collections that communities of users value
- Sustainability of collections
- Legal and ethical considerations associated with selecting, evaluating, collecting, managing, and providing access to information and artifacts in a variety of formats

Collections are considered dynamic entities, so this class will take into account the “lifecycle” of information – from conception and creation, to selection and storage, to access and evaluation, to preservation and long-term considerations, as well as weeding or deselection. Emerging issues in collection development, such as digitization projects, self-archiving behaviors, institutional repository development, and collaborations between different types of organizations will also be addressed.

Course Objectives:

By the end of the course, it is expected that students will be able to:

- Critique some of the literature on collections and collecting, from a variety of perspectives and in a variety of settings, in order to understand the major questions, issues, consequences, model, philosophies, and other forces in play.
- Analyze and evaluate written collection development policies with sensitivity toward the social contexts in which the collections are situated.
- Articulate similarities and differences between the collecting activities of different types of cultural heritage institutions (e.g. public, academic, school and special libraries; archives and museums).
- Apply a set of heuristics and principles for approaching collection development and management in professional situations (e.g. use of selection aids and statistics as tools).
- Reflect upon attitudes and practices in order to assess their performance as developing professionals.

Assignments:

1. Small Groups: Find 2 examples of collection development policies (one you consider exemplary and one that you think is inadequate) for a specific setting (e.g. public, academic, school, special library; archives, museum, etc.) – present to class with explanation of why you chose them (10-15 minutes). February 8

2. Find a resource that has been banned in a library setting (possible starting point: ALA list of banned books). Make a case for why this book should remain in the library collection, or alternatively, make a case for why you would remove the book from the collection. Written assignment (5-7 pages; double-spaced; 12 pt. font). February 22

3. Conduct an interview with a practicing librarian who handles collection management in their setting – questions to consider: what selection tools are used; how are resources allocated between departments; how does s/he solicit input, collect data; best item in the collection; item they “had to” purchase but didn’t want to; something they might weed if possible, etc. Write-up results of the interview and reflect on insights you discovered from the process (5-7 pages double-spaced; 12 pt. font). March 22

4. Choose a type of material and/or format that you would like to introduce to your community of users (assume they have not used this format previously). Pitch this new item and present as if you were justifying adding this format to your supervisor/library board/user community. Present to class (5-8 minutes). April 5

5. Identify a community of users (one that you define – e.g. stamp collectors, car enthusiasts, etc.) and create a core collection for their needs in a variety of formats. Include details of resources used in the process and why, also discuss any resources you chose not to use and explain why. Written assignment (10-12 pages; double-spaced; 12 pt. font). April 27

Grading:

Assignment 1 – 15%
Assignment 2 – 15%
Assignment 3 – 15%
Assignment 4 – 15%
Assignment 5 – 20%
Class Participation – 20%

Based on the UNC Registrar Policy for courses (http://regweb.unc.edu/resources/rpm24.php) semester grades will be H, P, L or F for graduate students. Grades for individual assignments will be based on points obtained on each assignment, weighted by percentages listed above, to calculate final grades. Numerical grades for the course as a whole will roughly translate into the following letter grades:

96.0-100% = H (High Pass)
80.0-95.9% = P (Pass)
65.0-79.9% = L (Low Pass)
< 64.9% = F (Fail)

If you have any concerns or questions about your grades (or any other issues) at any time, please feel free to discuss with me.

Students at the School of Information and Library Science are expected to follow the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Honor Code. Essentially, the Honor Code states that all students shall “refrain from lying, cheating, and stealing… all students are expected to actively support and protect the ideals of the Honor System at Carolina. These responsibilities must not only be met, but exceeded, for Carolina’s Honor System to continue to thrive.” For more information, see: http://honor.unc.edu/. For all assignments, students are required to submit original work and to give credit through citation to any sources/resources they used.
